

Intentional Leadership

The ability to lead, coach, or mentor someone is a skill set, and it needs to be developed like other skills. Great leaders devote time and effort to leading. They work intentionally at improving their skills, and they make leadership a priority.

VetLead.com

Don't assume leaders are born with something special or that it just comes naturally.